"Let thy Food be thy Medicine"

- Hippocrates (460-370 B.C.)

Join the world's leading authorities on nutrition and natural healing as they uncover the true cause of disease.

Food Matters sets about uncovering the trillion dollar worldwide 'Sickness Industry' and exposes a growing body of scientific evidence proving that nutritional therapy can be more effective, more economical, less harmful and less invasive than most conventional medical treatments.

Find out what works, what doesn't and what's killing you. Becoming informed about the choices you have for you and your family's health can save your life.
